I am a beginner at Javascript and have been working on an online course at I just finished a program that I am working on which removes the user's name from the copy of the game upon restarting the program. My problem is that I have a problem in that the variable msg is passed to every single function in the JS file. When I try passing var msg = "[ Message ]"; to all the functions in the JS file, the variable msg is still passed to all the functions in the file. How do I pass a variable to all the functions in a JS file?
