Don't buy it

I really dislike tier system when you build your base on planets. Same game with open world with free building system would be interesting.

Thought it was Ascendancy remake but it seems Light of Altair don't offer better only worst. After three missions I stopped game and deleted all files definitively.. I've played dozens of games like this but oh my. The quality of this game is amazing even in its early access state. Strongly recommend the game! I've rarely seen as charming a game.

Pros -- graphics are outstanding

-- reminds me of xcom in it's tactical battles

-- lots of customization, of individual crew and ship

Cons - Early Access bugs, but I expect over time those to be corrected.

Bottom line -- This could be an A level game in the making.. good game, more of a complex strategy game, that goes in great detail, of every aspect on and of the battlefield.. Excellent fun game, and at a bargain price. Still prefer the original though. Fun little casual game of managing an airport with planes that need to land in a particular airport. Match the colors and receive bonuses and don't let the passengers become unhappy. I love the cartoony graphic design for this game and the way you can trace the paths of your planes so they don't crash into each other is easy, intuitive and fun to use. Be careful though, it's still easy to crash. Easy achievements as well for those who like to get 100% completion.. Welp, I can't recommend it since the game just won't work, I'm getting a black screen when I'm starting the game, and it's a pain to try to quit the app.

It does seem fun tho from what I can look at the the videos.. It's a nice little time killer for a few bucks. Difficulty isn't too hard and there are enough levels offering a variety of solutions for completion or even perfection of each one. Aside from different obstacles there is also a bunch of enemies with different movement patterns. Good for kids too since there are no timers and you can think through possible solutions without feeling the pressure.

The only problem I have is getting 3 stars on Area 2 - Level 29 due to a bunch of rocks blocking my path on the way up, when I enter the portal to collect the downmost fruit (needed for 3 stars). This is the only star I'm missing in the whole game. It's either a bug, or I can't find a solution due to my brain cells dying :D. I always welcome new strategy games based on the Battle of Britain or WW2 air combat in general. Unfortunately The Few is disappointing in the end. I found myself craving more of a simulation than a casual game.

I really disliked the air to air combat portions of the game. It's real time, and without heavy micro-management of your aircraft, you'll often send your pilots in to be slaughtered mercilessly by the Luftwaffe's BF-109s. Rookie pilots seem to vary in skill between Top Gun and Full Retard. I've watched several times as pilots will fly around in circles chasing a 109, spraying bullets at empty sky until their guns go dry or you break the endless loop.

You are also limited to only 8 aircraft of your own per air battle. No Big Wings with multiple squadrons intercepting the German mass raids. So good luck to you when the Luftwaffe sends 16+ twin engine bombers and 8+ fighters.

The map screen is where the most interest for me is at. I like the aspect of building and placing airfields, radar, AA guns etc. However you only get to start with one factory, 1-2 airfields, and ZERO radar stations and AA guns. I would have liked to have seen a little more inventory at the start of the game. Playing a game about the Battle of Britain, where the RAF starts with no radar is a little silly.

One annoyance of the game is that squadrons won't land at an airfield if it is "full". So let's say you have two squadrons based at 2 airfields. One squadron was in combat and lost a few planes, with a pilot or two bailing out safely. The remaining aircraft return to base. At the same time your second squadron is also airborne, and the pilots who bailed out from the OTHER squadron start returning to your SECOND squadron's airfield. Now when squadron 2 returns to land, they CAN'T, because squadron 1's bailed out pilots have gone to squadron 2's base, and it is now too full to land at. That means you lose ALL of squadron 2's planes and pilots because they run out of fuel and crash. It is flip the table frustrating.

Overall I was disappointed with The Few. A few little fixes or changes could improve the game, but not enough for me personally to want to spend more time with it.. I have every dlc for tropico 5 and this is probaly the hardest and most boring one. The supercomputer is a cool addition if you are going for the tech achievement but other then that there is no need for it. I really wish they would release a new dlc that actually affects the game or creates a whole new feel. I love the tropico experience, but the dlc are all pretty much the same..they offer a new tech or factory and then you have to use this to win the scenario.

Waterbourne was the last good dlc. The supercomputer dlc is boring as hell. I would rather eat a poop sandwich then play this dlc again. It was also glitchy as hell at first, but I think that got solved. The map is a good map, but the dlc is boring..I cant stress this enough that the dlc is boring and how I would rather eat a poop sandwich on a hot summer day then play this dlc again! God please help tropico developers to create a better more worthy dlc that does not involve the same game play and scenario. Once again, dont play this boring dlc...You might as well get stoned first so that you go into it with some happiness cause this dlc is boring. One time I saw a cat get ran over and playing this dlc was the same experience. That poor cat. I didnt know his name, so I instead named him reggie ray. Poor reggie ray..that cat lived a short life and you will too if you play this DLC. This dlc makes me want to watch his untimely death over and over instead of playing this dlc..I would rather eat that hot poop sandwich on a muggy hot disgusting day while watching this cat die then play this dlc.

. Hard and frustrating to play, but you get a great feeling of accomplishment when you beat it. I recommend it if you like hard games.

I'm going to be shot with this as not to take up too much time.

1 you can customize skin tone and fingernail polish, which is cool.

2 the controls and movement are simple but effective, if you like the way neon struct moves you will love this

3 yes it is repetative but its easy to pick up and quite fun when you turn your brain off and just hunt vampires.

4 lots of items to unlock and a good amount of diffictulty settings.

5 xbox controller support if you swing your games that way

6 a jazzy fun soundtrack

7 i'm 99% sure this game can be played infinitely. This game has potential to be the one of a kind battle royal. The lack of server choice is it's downfall. Gameplay is fun overall, but the only server available is China and if you are not in China, it is almost unplayable.. This game is nothing but horrible from the start. It doesn't load well, taking quite a few minutes to load different screens such as settings. I never actually got to even play the game at all because it took over 30 minutes to load 4 different screens just to set up the game to play, and then the game itself never began.

Take it back to the drawing board.. This game is too real FeelsBadMan. This is a wonderful title. I'm reminded of 8-bit dungeon and tower adventures from the 80's and 90's. The soundtrack is very well done, and the color palette and gameplay keep things engaging for the player. Very enjoyable.. Free cancer game!. Level 1 is too hard, I got 99% and it wouldn't let me pass to the next stage.

- When you lose you need to go through the introduction sequence every single gosh darn time

- When you lose you can click "Continue" and it just takes you to the last move you made, why?

- The game has no volume adjustments for music/gameplay, there's only the option to disable them completely.

- The game is running in a small window and has no fullscreen mode.. Dope story.. This is the best real unique MOBA game: player(S) vs. always stronger and Intelligenter (endless waves) Bots (and Bosses) FFF UUU NNN :) In other Moba's, this unique receipt don't exist :(

But BLOODSPORT.TV is the first one:)

Buy this very special cheap Game ,and play alone or with others,

See you ;)
